PROGRAM INTEREST

- Architecture: The course in Architecture mirrors the design studio aspects that students in the Department of Architecture experience throughout the year and culminates in the creation of a hand-built 3D model using CAD software, laser cutting, and other specialized tools.
- Construction Science: The course in Construction Science allows students to participate in design/building, site visits, building information modeling (BIM), interactive lectures, and specialized presentations by faculty in the Department of Construction Science.
- Landscape Architecture and Urban Planning: The course in Landscape Architecture and Urban Planning mirrors elements of professional design studios and encourages creative individual thought within a team dynamic. Students explore three-dimensional space arrangements, form making, spatial functions, and procure the ability to create and communicate designs for the public realm.
- Visualization: Visual media entertains, informs, motivates. Visual media comes in many forms, but the goal is the same: to communicate to an audience by involving the viewer in the experience. The visualization program focuses on the processes of creation, design, and development of the visual experience.

ESSAY

This year our topic and goal for camp will be to produce and see projects that will help improve different communities. On a separate page, please provide an essay explaining why you would like to attend Camp ARCH and Texas A&M University. Please also describe an occasion where you have helped your community.

Essays should be without grammar or spelling errors and extra points will be added for creativity and making it fun to read. This is a somewhat free-form essay, so use your imagination with pictures, diagrams, or words to help us get to know who you really are. The essay's length should be at least one page, no more than 3 pages.

SCHOLARSHIP ESSAY

On a separate page, please provide an essay explaining your need for financial assistance. Include any relevant information such as family income, whether you are a first-generation college student, the number of household dependents, or anything that you wish the scholarship committee to be aware of. This essay should be no longer than one page, single-spaced.
